Home & Away was developed over a two-month rehearsal process during which students created movement and improvisations, learned music, researched and presented war letters, and perhaps learned a bit more about World War I than they knew before. Our show can’t hope to encompass the entire experience of a war and all the many people involved and affected by it; nor can it honor those people sufficiently. We are just hoping to open up a little window onto a period which would change the course of the centuries to come and shape the world as we know it.
