(#17) Lawrence, Lawrence, Here's To Thee

Always remember your Lawrence Academy days with this beautiful framed photograph of the four LA bell towers by photographer Karen Riggert, who was recognized with three Honorable Mention Recognitions in the 2013 International Photography Awards. Also enjoy using a set of ten note-cards with the same bell towers design created by Karen Riggert. This representation of the school architecture brings to mind the school song, Lawrence, Here's to Thee:

"On an elm tree-shaded hillside in an old New England town, stands a school both old and famous, worthy of its great renown. From the many who have loved it, and upheld it gloriously, echoes down the years this watch-word: Lawrence, Lawrence, here's to thee!"

Donated by: Karen Riggert Photography (Jake '13, Sarah '09)

(#18) Legendary Bruins Moment Captured

Boston Bruins Hockey Legends Ray Bourque and Phil Esposito both personally hand-signed this 11x14 color photo commemorating their special banner raising evening at the Boston Garden where Esposito's #7 was retired. No Bruins fan will ever forget Bourque's unselfish and surprising act of surrendering his number 7, allowing Esposito to stand in Bruins' history alone. Both signed with a gold-paint pen. It is framed in a classic black wooden frame and finished in a special Boston Bruins black and gold double matting. This photo comes guaranteed with an authenticated certificate from Frozen Pond.
